Mr Krishnaiengar has still a loan of Rs 7000 at his credit - for purchasing evaporating Plants from the Dewans note it would appear that the advance of Rs 10,000 now applied for includes the sum of Rs 7000.

The advance may be sanctioned a small interest may be charged as Mr Krishnaiengar can well afford to pay such interest out of the handsome returns which he is sure to make out of the business 3 percent is a low enough rate of course good security should be taken

The Revenue Commissioner recommends the grant of a loan of Rs.10,000 to Mr. Krishniengar of Oorgahalli, free of interest, for purchasing the plant necessary for the manufacture of Jaggory.

2. As will be seen from the notes (marked A), a loan of Rs.9,000 has up to date been sanctioned in favour of Mr. Krishniengar, of which only Rs.2,000 have been drawn. The Rupees Ten Thousand asked for will include this Rs.7,000 not yet drawn.

Office Note.

3. Both the Councillors are in favour of the loan asked for being granted at a small rate of interest. Three per cent they would fix.

4. I am of opinion that private enterprise of this kind is preferable by far to Government establishing factories as object lessons at their own cost, as was very strongly proposed by Dr. Lehmann and other authorities. In this view, the loan asked for may be sanctioned as a special case. It may be free of interest if His Highness pleases, and the loan made repayable in five years, as asked for. Of course ample pukka security will have to be forthcoming. The Revenue Commissioner has informed me personally that Krishniengar will pledge his valuable Inam village as security.

19 March 1911.

My dear Sir

With a view to encourage the setting up of machinery for the manufacture of jaggory, I visited the estate of Mr.Krishna Iyengar at Oorgahalli near Bidadi and also Bannur. At Oorgahalli, Mr.Krishna Iyengar has made considerable improvements in the cultivation of sugar-cane in his lands and is now using a powerful mill driven by an oil-engine for crushing the canes. He has also constructed buildings sufficient for setting up steam boilers and other plant necessary for defecating, clarifying and evaporating the juice with steam. He is however unable to buy the necessary plant at once for want of funds. He requires a loan of ₹10,000/- for this purpose, and if this is granted to him free of interest, he promises to repay it in five years. He hopes to be able to repay it even earlier, i.e. within three or four years, if the plant be received without any hitch and is found to work satisfactorily. His property is of considerable value and ample security is forthcoming for the loan. This enterprise is sure to serve as a valuable object lesson in the present backward state of the country as I shall show presently when referring to my visit to Bannur, and I strongly recommend that the loan he asks for may be sanctioned.

Of all places that I know of in this State, Bannur offers the greatest facilities for establishing a large plant for manufacturing jaggory. In this locality there are about three or four compact blocks where sugar-cane is cultivated on areas averaging from 100 to 150 acres each annually, and machinery can be set up in a central situation in each of these blocks, so as to provide constant employment for the factory for at least three or four months of the year. I have in company with the Sub Division Officer Mr.T.K.Sundararaja Iyengar explained to the ryots the advantages and material benefits to be derived thereby. The ryots here are however rather ignorant and conservative, and the more influential and wealthy of them seem also to apprehend that they would be put to loss by the introduction of improved methods, as the hand mills which they have been of late years importing from Madras and other places and selling for profit or letting out on a good daily rent to the illiterate and more ignorant of them would be displaced and become useless. I have suggested various alternatives to the people and hope to be able to do something ultimately for this tract also. But in my opinion, there is all the greater chance of this object being accomplished if Mr.Krishna Iyengar, whose improved methods in cultivation of sugar-cane and manufacture of jaggory are ~~all~~ well known to ryots in these parts, gives practical demonstration by setting up the steam plant. I would therefore urge all the more strongly that my recommendation in regard to the loan asked for by him be granted early. If early orders are passed, he will be able to order for and import all the machinery in time to commence working next season which begins about the ensuing December.

Yours sincerely

Arungasami Iyengar
